

Bed Up Down

Your dream ... into the ceiling

ABOUT US

Our originality

We realize, market and instal the fist and only bed in the world that realises your dreams: It does not take up spac as it disappears in the ceiling. The bed's comforts can be enjoyed with a very simple gesture: thanks to a remote control managed by an innovative system of sensors which is also possible to work from your Tablet or Smartphone

About us

Design & technology

We combine design and technology: our system is patented and represents an Excellence Made in Italy

At your service

We offer a certified installation and we look after your personal needs: With the help of our designers, you can design the style and the features of your Bed

Other dreams ...

Wardrobe, tables, plastic models, safebox (and other products..) appear and disappear in your room according to your needs and wishes. Tell us your needs and our designers will find a tailored solution for you

COLLABORATION

Collaboration

We would like to work with architects, designers and professionals in that field in Italy and in the World. We would like to come into contact with talents and workers with strong innovation faculties, creativity and ability to adapt to different situations. Working with us means joining a team composed by professionals and skilled workers supporting national and international experiences aiming to the same objective: increase value to our society and our lives

TECHNICAL DATASHEET

Technical tests and guarantee

Bed Up Down has been subject to different and specific tests in order to ensure the absolute safety of the product also in situations of continuous movement.

On the 12th of December 2014 we have opened a new showroom in Alpignano (Torino) presenting our bed 'Be Up Down'. The bed is still working 24 hours a day, 7 days per week performing a movement upwards and downwards every single minute. The movement made by the Bed in a day in the showroom, corresponds to 1 year-movement up-down of a bed installed in a house (compared to the different use). Also these results obtained by our experiments have shown the absolute safety and strength of our product.

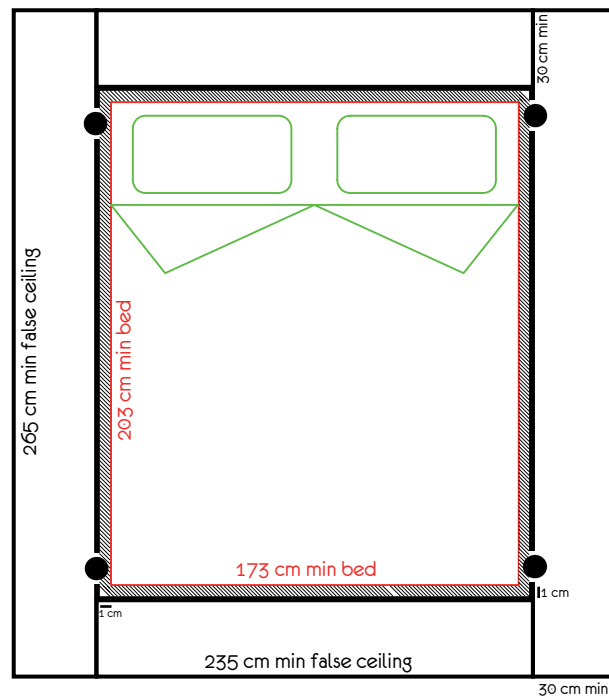

We can vouch for 285 previous experiences in our installations all around Europe and up to 10 years guarantee for a complete and longlasting service

A low-angle, upward-looking photograph of the New York Times building. The building's facade is covered in a dense grid of horizontal metal slats. Through the slats, the interior lights of the building are visible, creating a warm, golden glow. The perspective is from below, looking up at the building, which makes it appear to be rising steeply into the sky. The sky is a pale, clear blue.
